

Robert Morton Award Winner

Laura Nance
St. Clair County Board of Education

Laura Nance, Chief School Financial Officer for the St. Clair County Board of Education, has been named the recipient of the fourth annual Robert L. Morton award by the Alabama Association of School Business Officials (AASBO). The award is named in honor of the late Robert L. Morton, former Assistant Superintendent of Administration and Finance for the Alabama State Department of Education and is designed to recognize outstanding school business officials in Alabama.

Laura earned a Bachelor's Degree from the University of Alabama at Birmingham in 1990 and earned a CPA certificate in 1997. Prior to being appointed as CSFO in St. Clair County Schools in 2007 she held several positions at the State of Alabama, including the State Revenue Office, the Department of Education and the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. She left the State to take the position of CSFO at Anniston City Schools in 2003 and served there until her appointment in St. Clair County. Laura is a member of the Alabama Society of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants

AASBO seeks to recognize, through this award, the dedication that individuals bring to their communities, their profession, and their school district in everyday life by identifying school business officials devoted to going above and beyond to do their job and to serve their community. AASBO seeks to recognize individuals who are trying to make a difference in the lives of their peers and subordinates and have set new standards for themselves and their colleagues in their profession. Laura is an outstanding selection for this award.
