

Robert Morton Award Winner

Dennis Veronese

Third Annual

Robert Morton Award Winner

Dennis Veronese, Chief School Financial Officer and Assistant Superintendent of Business and Finance for Auburn City Schools, has been named the recipient of the third annual Robert L. Morton award by the Alabama Association of School Business Officials (AASBO). The award named after the late Robert L. Morton, former Assistant Superintendent of Administration and Finance for the Alabama State Department of Education, is designed to recognize outstanding school business officials in Alabama.

In addition to his CSFO Certification, Dennis is certified as an Educational Administrator with the Alabama State Department of Education. He holds a B.S. in Business Administration, a Master's of Education, and is currently pursuing a Doctorate in Educational Leadership at Auburn University. Dennis has 13 years of service in public education. He served five years with the Alabama State Department of Education prior to coming to Auburn City Schools. He was appointed Chief School Finance Officer with Auburn City Schools in 2001 and Assistant Superintendent of Business and Finance in 2007. Through his professional and civic affiliations, Dennis has actively participated on the boards of several state and local organizations. Dennis and his wife, Anna, have four children.

AASBO seeks to recognize, through this award, the dedication that individuals bring to their communities, their profession, and their school district in everyday life by identifying school business officials devoted to going above and beyond to do their job and to serve their community. AASBO seeks to recognize individuals who are trying to make a difference in the lives of their peers and subordinates and have set new standards for themselves and their colleagues in their profession. Dennis Veronese is an outstanding selection for this award.